

FEDERAL PROCUREMENT WEBINAR

APRIL 3, 2018
12:00 – 1:00 p.m.

Description

A stack of US dollar bills, including $100 and $10 bills, arranged in a stepped fashion.

Back in December of 2014, Uniform Grant Guidance (UGG) was put into place to help govern new awards and/or incremental funding increases for government entities. In an attempt to get their affairs in order with regard to UGG's procurement requirement, most entities opted to take advantage of the extended implementation grace period which has now run out. As of Jan. 1, 2018, entities with fiscal years ending Dec. 31, are required to be in compliance with the new procurement methods. Entities with fiscal years ending June 30, must be in compliance as of July 1, 2018. This webinar will familiarize you with the new five methods for a successful federal procurement so you can avoid audit findings and questioned costs.
